Nick Garner is both a patent lawyer and professional engineer (non-practising) with particular expertise in preparing and prosecuting patent applications for inventions within the mechanical arts. Nick's clients range from individual inventors and start-ups to established companies with a global presence.

He is a Canadian patent lawyer and registered patent and trademark agent with over 15 years of experience in a variety of technology. He has assisted clients in obtaining patent protection in a variety of industries including manufacturing and construction, control and sensor systems, mill equipment and accessories, marine products, oil and gas systems, consumer products, medical devices, green technology, aerospace systems, vehicle accessories, and tool assemblies.

When not in the office, Nick chooses to live a healthy lifestyle and aims to long-distance run three times a week. You may also find him hiking the local North Shore trails or on a sail boat catching a summer breeze. Nick additionally enjoys travelling when time permits, listening to podcasts and spending time with family.
